READ

Tell The Truth, Shame The Devil
by Melina Marchetta,
$32.99 (Viking)
melinamarchetta.com.au

Australian young adult writer Melina Marchetta follows J.K. Rowling into the world of grown-up crime fiction with this rollicking thriller. A terrorist blows up a school bus touring France, leaving several children dead. Suspended cop Bish Ortle's daughter Bee was on the bus. He discovers a link to his past and finds himself hunting down the teenage suspect – before vigilantes find her. ●

Lazarus \ Original Cast Recording
(Sony) lazarusmusical.com

David Bowie's musical, inspired by his role in '70s film The Man Who Fell To Earth, sold out its limited run in a few hours. There's no word yet of a local production but this album brings some comfort. Part Bowie best-of, part tribute album and with three new songs (Bowie's last recordings), it evokes a spellbinding show with a stunning performance from Dexter's Michael C. Hall. ●

CLASS

Class \ ABC2, October 24, 7.30pm
bbc.co.uk/programmes/p048h1bz

It's a rare week for fans of British telly. Charlie Brooker's Black Mirror makes its Netflix debut with a new run, Gillian Anderson returns in crime thriller The Fall and noughties drama Cold Feet is back on screens. Class wins out for being something new, albeit something indebted to the old. Young adult novelist Patrick Ness is behind this teen-friendly Doctor Who spin-off likely to woo Buffy fans. ●

Independence Day: Resurgence \ DVD, Blu-ray and Digital
(20th Century Fox)
foxmovies.com/movies/independence-day-resurgence

Two decades on from devastating most of Earth's landmarks, the aliens are back and bigger than ever. This belated sequel suffers from having to hit the same notes. Nostalgia almost saves the day but it's hard not to like a film that has Jeff Goldblum fighting monsters with wry wisecracks and an old-fashioned simplicity. Dumb fun, basically ● MB
